OUR PRESBYTERIAN SEMINARIES

Committee on Theological Education

COTE, GAMC, PCUSA

BOOK

The Committee on Theological Education produced this resource on behalf of and in partnership with our ten Presbyterian seminaries. Ours is a ministry collaboration that, at its best, serves the church. "Seminaries and churches together ... for generations to come ..." is more than a logo and slogan; it is our hope and prayer as we outline, on behalf of the PC(USA), the more expansive view of theological education that we believe the triune God is calling us toward. It is a view of theological education, of church leadership and vocational discernment that takes into account the people and places, the minds and the hearts of Presbyterians in and related to seminaries in a variety of ways.

WELCOME TO THEOLOGICAL FIELD EDUCATION!

Floding, Matthew, ed.

The Alban Institute, 2011

BOOK

Field education is an opportunity for students to develop ministry skills, practice ministerial reflection, discern their call, experience professional collegiality, and undergo personal transformation. Field education offers them a place to practice ministry and a space to reflect on it, to integrate theory and practice, and grow towards competency. In Welcome to Theological Field Education! eleven directors of field education in seminaries and divinity schools across North America pass on their wisdom to both students and their supervisors. Edited by Matthew Floding, director of field education at Western Seminary in Holland, Michigan, this volume covers critical topics such as the art of supervision and formation, the use of case studies and peer reflection groups, self-care and ministerial ethics, and assessment.
